

Paul Alexander, MD, MPH
Senior Vice President, Chief Transformation Officer
RWJBarnabas Health

As Senior Vice President, Chief Transformation Officer at RWJBarnabas Health, Paul Alexander, MD, MPH, is responsible for organizing assets for the largest, most comprehensive academic health care system in New Jersey as it transitions to value-based care. His role encompasses accountable care organization management, the employee health plan and other resources dedicated to building necessary infrastructure.

A seasoned physician executive, Dr. Alexander joined RWJBarnabas Health from Horizon Blue Cross Blue Shield of New Jersey where, from 2014-2020, he served as Vice President and Chief Medical Officer, Government Programs. In this role, he was accountable for the delivery of quality care and services to more than 800,000 government program members. Prior to Horizon BCBS, he held leadership positions in the life sciences industry at AstraZeneca Pharmaceuticals and health insurance providers, including UnitedHealthcare, Health Partners of Philadelphia, and Independence Blue Cross.

Dr. Alexander received his Bachelor of Arts degree from New York University and Master of Public Health from Columbia University. He graduated from the Case Western Reserve University School of Medicine, completed his residency in emergency medicine at Christiana Care Health System, and fellowships at the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine and the Leonard Davis Institute at the Wharton School.
