

TERRY MONACO

After retiring as NBCS Math teacher, and Technology Coordinator, Terry Monaco has returned to take on the part-time position of Network Administrator. Early in her career, she completed courses at the School of Business Machines in Newark leading to a computer programmer position at Prudential. When she started at NBCS as Math teacher, she began constructing the computer network and became certified in Novell technology. Over the years she has gained knowledge in both PC and MAC systems. In addition to Network Admin duties, Terry also created and maintains the school's website